

Dr Philippe DEGRELLE

Biosketch

Dr Philippe DEGRELLE is a medical doctor specialized in interventional cardiology and former Chef de Clinique des Hôpitaux de Paris (CCA). He is head of the department of cardiology at Centre Hospitalier de Luxembourg (CHL) and senior interventional cardiologist at Institut National de Chirurgie Cardiaque et de Cardiologie Interventionnelle (INCCI). His fields of expertise are all types of coronary interventions as well as structural interventions, especially transcatheter valvular interventions of the aortic, mitral and tricuspid valves. He is member of the ANOCOR group in Paris specialized in abnormal connections of the coronary arteries and participated in several cardiac arrest studies conducted in Paris in collaboration with the centre d'expertise de la mort subite (CEMS). He was co-investigator for the EuReCa and CARDLUX studies in Luxembourg and supervises now the CARDLUX-Registry together with Dr Stammet in Luxembourg.